

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A magnetic sleeve assembly for use in a linear compressor motor, including a support sleeve and a plurality of magnets attached to the support sleeve by mounting rings. The mounting rings have angled lips extending over and contacting the ends of the magnets, which have beveled bearing surfaces on their ends. As the assembly expands and contracts, the mounting rings maintain the magnets in place.